M.M. London Gazette, 15 March, 1945:

At Piraeus on the 14th December, 1944, "D" Company of 3rd Baluch was held up by heavy machine-gun fire coming down a side street. In spite of every effort the post could not be located and the advance could not proceed.

Corporal Kenyon drove his tank into the street and with complete disregard for his own safety, deliberately stood up in the turret to attract the fire. The machine-gun opened up on him immediately, narrowly missing him. Not, how ever, till he had discovered the exact location of the gun did he get back into his tank. He then drove up and silenced the gun.

His gallant action was an inspiration to all who witnessed it and his complete disregard for his own safety saved the lives of many others and allowed the advance to proceed and the objective to be taken.

LOT

- 28 Military Medal, Geo. VI (Sjt. G. F. Fisher, R.A.C.). Extremely fine. 1

∴ M.M. London Gazette 7 December, 1944. From AFW 3121 (Action for which commended):

On 30th June, 1944, Sjt. Fisher was commanding one of a section of armoured cars, of 56 Recce Regt., which had contacted an enemy company position in the vicinity of some farm buildings and a wood.

The commander of one of the cars had dismounted to try to locate the enemy and in doing so was badly wounded in the leg.

Sjt. Fisher, seeing this, manoeuvred his car into a position to try to neutralise the enemy's fire. He himself dismounted, ran across the open ground and lay down beside the wounded man, stopping the bleeding and dressing his wounds. Having done this he again crossed the open ground, carrying his companion and, still under fire, lifted him into his armoured car.

By this time the mortaring and shelling had increased and the enemy were endeavouring to outflank his car so Sgt. Fisher decided to move to another position from which he could engage a number of enemy vehicles which were seen moving away from the wood.

Sjt. Fisher was ordered to cover the withdrawal of his troop to a position of observation while a troop of tanks dealt with the situation. This Sjt. Fisher carried out with great effect, silencing a number of M.G.s and a light anti-tank gun. He was later able to point out targets to the tank commanders.

It was by this N.C.O.'s courage and initiative that a strong enemy position was overcome. His devotion to duty, personal example and coolness under fire were a great inspiration to his troop.

For great gallantry and presence of mind displayed at Hope Lodge, Cretingham, on the 3rd August, 1900, in a courageous endeavour to rescue a man named Charles Mann, who was overcome by foul gases at the bottom of a well, 48ft. deep. The man at the top having refused to go down, Miss Pritty clambered through the framework, and got into the bucket, and was let down. She reached the man, gave him brandy, and attempted to revive him, but as there was no second rope available, she was obliged to leave him.
 Dorling states that since its institution in 1874 only 326 bronze medals have been awarded.

London Gazette, 26 April, 1880.

"On Monday, 16th February 1880, during a very heavy gale, the Swedish schooner "Augusta" was observed by the coast-guard at Peterhead showing signals of distress and labouring heavily in the trough of the sea.

On reaching the opening of the Peterhead South Bay the vessel headed for the land. As is clear that she would come ashore, the life-saving apparatus was at once started, but by the time it reached the beach the vessel had stuck on the rocks near Boddam, about four miles south of Peterhead, and drifted towards the shore, where she lay exposed to all the fury of the gale. Two rockets were fired and the second carried the line over the stern of the ship, but the crew were quite ignorant of the working of the apparatus, and were unable to avail themselves of the assistance. Oatley thereupon took off his clothes and, swimming through the breakers and broken water, reached the smooth water between the ship and the rocks and was pulled on board by a rope thrown to him. He then proceeded to haul in the line and fix it to the rigging, after which the crew, five in number, were one by one drawn ashore. Oatley, who contrary to the captain's wishes was the last to leave the ship, was landed benumbed with cold and fatigue, and cut and bleeding from contact with the rocks".

GEORGE OTLEY was born in London in 1842 and joined the Navy in 1859. A complete service history of him (researched by Capt. K. J. Douglas-Morris, R.N.) is sold with the lot.

- ∴ From The Tank Corps Book of Honour, 1919:
- During the advance from Landrecies to Avesnes, on November 7, (1918), this N.C.O. displayed gallantry, skill and devotion to duty, and rendered most valuable services at a critical time in maintaining the mechanical efficiency of, and in salving under fire, armoured cars which had been temporarily put out of action by the enemy. To his resource and technical skill this battalion is indebted for armoured cars which were kept in action at a time when they were most valuable. On many occasions this N.C.O. has carried out repairs to armoured cars under fire.

SALE CATALOGUES

On the average we issue twelve or more Coin Catalogues and three Naval & Military Medal Catalogues each year, some of which are usually of Sales of important Collections.

CATALOGUE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Sale Catalogues, frequently illustrated, are normally posted to Subscribers about three weeks prior to the date of Sale.

Lists of "Prices Bid" are issued after each Sale, thus giving at a glance a reliable guide to value. The final test of value must always be auction prices rather than the figures given in books of reference, for changing times and fashions soon render the latter obsolete and misleading. The Lists of "Prices Bid" will probably be enclosed in a following Sale Catalogue.

AIR MAIL POSTAGE

To allow subscribers resident outside Europe time to submit Postal Bids, Sale Catalogues will, if desired, be sent by Air Mail. Air Mail postage is not, however, included in the Subscription Rate and the cost must be borne by the Subscriber. In such cases a deposit against the cost is required.
